

TESTIMONIAL

India is an overwhelming country with its rich and colorful culture, and I am so grateful that I found so many wonderful girls who were willing to tell me about their culture and their country. In a different world within this beautiful world I found a place to connect, to learn – and thanks to your hospitality and kindness – to find friends.

I experienced the warmest welcome and the greatest care at VDJS thanks to you, Principal Ma'am, Mr. Rupesh, my great escorts, and also the German students.

Generosity, hospitality, and kindness are the key to friendship, peace, freedom, and independence. I am more than lucky that I found this key that unlocked a door to this impressive school with all these impressive intelligent, hard-working, and creative girls, the wonderful teachers, and staff. I have learned so much in this rather short time and I hope I was able to leave a share of my German culture in India. A culture and a language that is so different but worth exploring and learning.

I am fascinated by the motivation and the willingness of you girls to learn German. The classes with you were truly great and I am very proud of all of you. You take the challenge to learn the German language and by doing so, you receive the possibility to gain so many wonderful opportunities as German language skills are highly requested nowadays. And, as already stated, language opens keys to new cultures.

As my stay at VDJS has shown me: no matter how different our countries, our cultures and our lives are: a good heart and a welcoming gesture enable exchange, understanding, friendship and independence everywhere.
