

HAPPY
TEACHER'S DAY

This Teacher's Day let's take a vow to make our Earth Green -Go Green....

TEACHER'S DAY

Our Teachers' Day bash was a riot of giggles and gratitude! From surprise skits that turned teachers into superheroes to impromptu dance-offs, it was a day filled with laughter and heartfelt tributes. But the head girl's speech? It was like a lyrical rollercoaster that left us laughing so hard our textbooks shook!

The school transformed into a talent-packed circus, with our teachers as the hilarious ringmasters. The day ended with our teachers feeling the love and our students filled with memories to last a lifetime. It was a Teachers' Day extravaganza that proved laughter is the best lesson of all!

CELEBRATION TIME!

Non-Dancers are the best dancers!

Smiles are contagious, pass them on

RETRRRRRO

Happy Janmashtami

Janmashtami, the annual cosmic birthday bash of Lord Krishna, is here, and it's like the universe's grandest surprise party! People fast, which is basically a cosmic diet, while the deity himself probably nibbles on celestial butter.

As the sound of devotional music and the aroma of delicious sweets waft through homes and temples, Janmashtami reminds us of the enduring wisdom and love of Lord Krishna, who continues to inspire and guide us on our spiritual journey.

So, break the "Dahi Handi," savor some "makhan," and immerse in the enchanting melodies of Krishna's flute.

INK AND INTRIGUE

Welcome back to a world of ink and intrigue, where every page holds a thrilling adventure !!

In an unexpected twist that left the school community shaken, our cherished "Civils on Sundays" tradition has been abruptly canceled, and it's sending shockwaves. The serene campus, typically adorned with sharp suits and graceful dresses on Sundays, has turned into a chaotic parade of pink and grey T-shirts.

Mona Ma'am, our seasoned political science teacher, has unleashed a celestial storm in our grade I2 classroom. She's swapped political theories for astral mysteries. Students now find themselves deciphering cosmic codes, and exploring the hidden connections between numbers and celestial bodies.

But I2thies being the guardians of the senior image, embarked on a harmless mission against their teachers. In a brilliantly orchestrated prank, they left the teachers bewildered, convincing them that the theme for this year's Teachers' Day was "Barbie" for the Males and "Oppenheimer" for the Females. As the faculty scratched their heads over the peculiar theme choice, the day unfolded into a tapestry of laughter and camaraderie.

But that's not all, folks! There's a juicy rumor swirling around that sports might be canceled during mid-terms. How do we know? Well, our trusty Editor-in-Chief has a CR (Class Representative) as a confidant, and the CRs are privy to the top-secret meetings with the principal;)

So, as we navigate the topsy-turvy world of canceled traditions, newfound numerology, successful pranks and hijinks galore, one thing's for sure: Our school community knows how to keep the excitement levels soaring! Stay tuned for more thrilling updates and plot twists from our ever-entertaining campus.

But remember, one whisper at a time!

THIS WEEK !!!

Hold onto your turbans and Shakespearean collars because our school recently turned into a dramatics extravaganza! First up, the "Interhouse Soliloquy" had students reciting Shakespearean monologues with more drama than a toddler in a candy store. To be or not to be? More like, to giggle or not to giggle!

Hold onto your berets, because our school's "In-House Art Extravaganza" was a hilarious masterpiece in its own right! Think wild paint fights, more abstract art than you can shake a paintbrush at, and collaborative canvases that ended up looking like a Picasso-meets-Jackson-Pollock fever dream.

Our "Peer Support Group" just turned grade 4 and 5 kids into teamwork ninjas with a crafty twist. Glue guns and giggles were our weapons of choice, and we transformed them into a friendship army that could stick together through anything. The sky's the limit, and our friendship fleet is ready for takeoff!

Lastly, the "Maths Workshop" was a numbers carnival that would make even a clown do algebraic cartwheels. It was like learning math from a stand-up mathematician, where the quadratic formula got its own punchline.
